FORSYTH LODGE

Forsyth Satpura is a small stylish 12 cottage wildlife lodge set in 44 acres of wildlife filled jungle at the edge of Satpura Tiger Reserve. With a back drop of plateaus and hills which form the highest part of the Deccan Plateau (up to 4000ft), and with thick forest rolling down to the water's edge, it's totally unspoiled and ultimately peaceful. Built primarily in mud, the design and materials used for the cottages are inspired by local village surroundings. The focus of the lodge is entirely on the wildlife and the wilderness experience - but always viewed in the context of the local community and its needs.

ACTIVITIES

Game Drives

Game drives remain one of the best ways of seeing wildlife simply because wildlife gets habituated to vehicles and you can cover large amount of territory in a relatively short time. One would be tracking wildlife through calls, checking favored resting and feeding spots and traversing a range of habitats.

Walking In the Wilderness

This is a unique experience to truly understand the secret ways of the jungle. The walking groups are small- typically of 4 people and guided by an expert who knows exactly how to respond and treat wildlife while being conscious of the guests' comfort and safety. A half days walk is between 3-4 hrs.

On Elephant Back

As with other tiger reserves in central India, Satpura supports a small herd of riding elephants. Unlike other parks they have stayed clear of the 'Tiger Show'. However at Satpura it is possible to hire elephants for an hour or two and just head out into the jungle.

On the Water

The northern edge of Satpura is bordered by the enormous reservoir of the Tawa Dam. The water adds enormously to the scenic splendor of the park and when full the inlets, island and bays within the jungle provide a mesmerizing vista, enhanced by the presence of birds and wildlife coming to the edge of the water.

Night Walks for Nocturnal Species

Night walks are organized for those who wish to explore this aspect of wildlife and for those who want to spend a night out; there is a hide for 1 person with basic sleeping arrangements and night vision equipment.
